

Update: Canterbury earthquake
2pm Monday 28 February 2011

Thanks to the hard work and support of our staff and contractors over recent days, SKOPE is now back up and operational.

These photos were taken this morning showing our premises undamaged and our production staff back at work. To keep updated on our progress over the coming days, please refer to this section of our website.

